Those Who Dance Must Pay the Fiddler.

The following communication is published by a farmer who says "I endorse it fully!"

ROCKY HILL, Ky., Dec. 20, 1891.—I see by the papers that your "Commercial Club" is organizing a raid on the State Treasury in the interest of the World's Fair two years hence; or rather in the interest of an indefinite number of speculators who have invested in "options" or otherwise, in the mineral or timber lands of the State. This is all right from their stand point, but it is not to the great masses of the people of the State? From the forthcoming report of the State Auditor we learn that there is now a deficit of more than a hundred thousand dollars, and by the time that the pending legislature gets through with its work the amount will be more than doubled. Under this state of things, can the State afford to contribute $25,000, or $50,000, or a single nickel, to the show? It don't look to me that they can. If we had an overflowing treasury and the people were full-handed and easy in money matters, we could afford to make a "splurge" at this big show. But the condition of things at present will not warrant such a course. It is all right for these city dudes and their friends who hold options and other interests, to ask the state to help them out of the soup that they have stewed; but can the thousands of farmers afford the expense, is the great question. Those who dance should pay the fiddler, is the old rule in old Kentucky, and it is a good rule. If our friends who have invested in mineral, gas and timber lands, and boom towns, want to advertise these buildings, let them pay their own bills. It is as much as we farmers in Kentucky can do to pay our present taxes and keep the sheriff off our farms. How many farmers have any direct interest in the big show proposed to be held in Chicago two years hence? Not one in fifty. We have nothing to sell that this show will help. Nobody need be uneasy about Kentucky not being represented in this big show. The stock men will be there and they will pay their own expenses, as they are accustomed to do; and they will hold their own with the world. The farmers will be there, and pay their own footing, and will show up with the best that is on hand; the fruit men will not be missing and will have as big Ben Davis apples and Bartlett pears as any body else. The men who have coal mines with coal in them will be there; the men who have iron mines that have "chanks" in them will be there with "chanks" of the stuff to show the world; the men who have timber lands will be there with big poplar and oak logs to show. Don't be uneasy. What Kentucky has fit to show will be on hand, and those who own it, can afford to pay their own expenses and attend to their own interests. Nine dollars out of every ten dollars that should be taken out of the State Treasury would be a clean, clear steal for a few pet dead beats to feed and fatten on. No. We don't want any appropriation out of the public treasury; for, in the first place, we have no money there to appropriate, and in the second place, the mass of the people who pay the taxes and fill the Treasury have not a nickel interest in the show. I see that prominent men all over the State are being dragged in to endorse and recommend State aid to this steal. This is cute, but it won't work. These few chaps don't represent the sentiment and interest of the people and they will have about as much influence as the barking of coon dogs in a cotton patch. This is a bad day for the unfaithful and ungodly, and the members of the Legislature who shall squander the people's money and saddle them with debt for the benefit of a few dogs to sell, will find next year a harder year still, and will have to spend their time whittling dry goods boxes and plowing with a poor mule.—W. C. in Farmers Home Journal.

Every penny tells. You can get Salvation Oil for twenty-five cents. Best in the market.

John B. Gough, the far-famed lecturer, excused himself to an audience because of a bad cold, then started for Egypt in the hope of getting rid of it. Egypt contains no remedy more certain in its results than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Dr. Cottrell Sued.

The young gentlemen of Greenville acted in a way to suit Rev. Dr. Cottrell on New Year's day, though their conduct gave him a fit. The Doctor, with that rasp of a tongue of his, knows how to give other people fits, and is pleasing to his friends to know that his turn came at first of 1892.—Greenville Echo.

There's a patent medicine which is not a patent medicine—paradoxical as that may sound. It's a discovery: the golden discovery of medical science. It's the medicine for you—tired, run-down, exhausted, nerve-wasted men and women; for you sufferers from diseases of skin or scalp, liver or lungs—its chance is with every one, its season always, because it aims to purify the fountain of life—the blood—upon which all such diseases depend. The medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The makers of it have enough confidence in it to sell it on trial. That is—you can get it from your druggist, and if it doesn't do what it's claimed to do, you can get your money back, every cent of it.

That's what its makers call taking the risk of their words.

Tiny, little, sugar-coated granules, are what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are. The best Liver Pills ever invented; active, yet mild in operation; cure sick and bilious headaches. One a dose.

THE HABIT OF READING.

A Word to Boys.

The habit of reading does not come, Minerva-like, full grown. Like everything else we do for advantage, whether we are men or boys, it needs usually to be cultivated, though many boys naturally love to read. "You don't mind, I am certain, whittling with your jack-knife for a whole day if you wish to make a tug-boat, or you will work vigorously to make a kite. It is all very well to do this, but you see, it requires a certain amount of work to secure your triumph and joy with these things. I am sure there never was a boy who would hesitate to do this work when he thought what the result of it was to be.

Abraham Lincoln, of whom you have all heard, laid the foundation for his greatness when he was a boy by taking time to read. He did not have the great variety of good books and papers that are to be had now; but he found the best he could, and made the most of them. As gas and kerosene lamps were not in use in the time of his boyhood, and even candles were not to be obtained by him, he was glad to avail himself of a torch made from a pine knot, and sitting over the fireplace on a winter night in his home, which was a rude cabin, I dare say he enjoyed what he read better than anything he found to read in later life, when all the modern books and facilities were at his hand. I know this is not a new story that I am telling you; but it illustrates so well what I want to say that I would be glad if you could hear it over and over again, so that you may never forget it.

It supplies for all of us, in fact, a very good lesson to remember. It makes emphatic the truth that what we get through difficulties we get most thoroughly and retain longest. You will learn when you are older that into all your attainments and successes a question enters which we call cost. In other words, you have had to give something for them—time, toil, or money. At any rate, either you have given it, if you have obtained the object desired, or some one else has given it for you. Do you remember the story of the king who asked the great mathematician for some easy method whereby his boy, whom he inclined to favor, might be enabled to obtain a knowledge of mathematics? But he was told there is no royal road to geometry? Neither is there to any desirable success. It would not have been a favor to the king's son if there had been, allowed to travel it.—P. T. Barnum in Harper's Young People.

By innumerable cures, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, has won for itself a most enviable reputation.

I've been suffering for the past three weeks with a sprained wrist. I tried Salvation Oil, and find myself, after having used one bottle, entirely cured. CHAS. KEYSER, 190 Mulberry St., Baltimore, Md.

Leslie's Colored Number.

This week's issue is really the first of the colored Leslie numbers. A magnificent frontispiece, finer than anything before on an American publication, graces its pages. It represents a cowboy race on the plains, and is printed in four colors. It is artistic to a degree unknown. The women will be interested in the picture which shows Baby Ruth Cleveland taking an airing. The striking picture of the burning of the steamer Abyssinia in mid-ocean and the rescue of the passengers; the magnificent features of the great poet, Walt Whitman; figure pieces by the best amateur photographers, and the pages devoted to the children and the graphological department, will interest our readers. The beautiful bit of music called "Christmas Chimes" and the fourth of the series of the articles by Professor Totten make it the most interesting publication of the new year. It is a wonder how twelve such good numbers can be furnished, together, with the graphological chart, and an order on Peter Henderson & Co. for $1.25 worth of roses or chrysanthemum plants or flower seeds, for $1; but the Arkell Weekly Company, 110 Fifth Avenue, New York, are enterprising people.

What a Cloverport Woman Sees and Hears About a Man.

A man will wade through two feet of snow to see a dog fight, but six inches of snow will keep him away from church.

He will get up at 4 o'clock in the morning to go fishing, but will calmly allow his wife to build the fire before he does so.

He will spend the whole evening reading the latest magazine but let his wife request him to read a chapter from the Bible to the children and at once his eyes are unfit for use.

He will tramp the hills from day break till sun down in search of rabbits or birds and consider it fine exercise, but he will kick like a new shot gun when his wife asks him to take the baby out walking on Sunday afternoon.

Winning a husband is only a pleasure, but keeping him is a penance. A friend said to me not long since "do write about hen-pecked husbands." I never saw one, so I can't write about it.

Men like to be looked up at, depended on, quoted and referred to. An ugly temper is a trial that few women are able to stand. The thing is to keep still, let him cool, and let the matter drop. Don't let a wife make a sacrifice of herself, do let her have ideas of her own, secrets too, if she chooses. It is a good idea not to be too tame, be a little uncertain to make yourself interesting. This thing of trying to rule a husband, it can't be done, but the "old common expression" rubbing of the fur the right way wins every time, for instance, if he is fond of flattery let him have it or praise his shapely head to the skies and he will keep his hair cut, tell him his hands are handsome and you solve the problem of unkempt nails. If he is relating anything that especially interests him, listen with open eyes of wonderment and no matter what the occasion is, never permit your knowledge to exceed his. Men despise smart women, but have no fault to find when her talent is large enough to appreciate his greatness.

REMOVE THE CAUSE.—It is no doubt the correct thing to treat the symptoms of a disease, but this is not effective unless the cause of the fever may be treated with quinine, etc., but unless the cause is removed the fever will surely return. Again, the sores and eruptions of Scrofula may be healed by mercury and potash treatment, but unless the cause of these symptoms is cleansed from the system, they will return or attack some of the delicate internal organs. Swift's Specific strikes at the cause of the trouble, and forces out the germs of disease, and the poison through the pores of the skin, and at the same time builds up the general health of the sufferer. Swift's Specific is a purely vegetable remedy, and is harmless to the most delicate, yet it never fails to eliminate the poison from the human body. We will mail a valuable book to all who will send for it.

WEATHER BUREAU—WASHINGTON, Dec. 30, 1891.—Mr. R. N. Miller, Cloverport, Ky., Sir: In order to extend the usefulness of the Weather Bureau in connection with the preparation and distribution of the official forecasts, it is directed that on and after January 1, 1892, the period of time covered by such predictions, which has heretofore been twenty-four hours, shall be as follows:

The forecasts prepared upon the 8 a. m. observations will be made for a period of thirty-six hours ending at 8 p. m. of the following day. Those prepared upon the 8 p. m. observations will be made for the following day ending at midnight. The forecasts, as heretofore, will be issued twice daily, based upon the telegraphic reports of observations taken at 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. (75th meridian time.)

It is requested that the following rules be observed by all persons displaying flags, or sounding whistle signals, representing the forecasts of the Weather Bureau:

For the p. m. forecast, received at night or early the following morning, flags displayed should represent the weather of the current day; for the a. m. forecast, received before noon, the flags displayed should represent the weather of the following day.

Should more than one kind of weather or temperature be indicated in the forecasts, the last named kind will show what flags to be displayed or whistle signals sounded.

I am, very respectfully,
MARK W. HARRINGTON,
Chief of Weather Bureau.

Speaking about kidney and liver troubles Mr. James Borne, Girdles, Ky., says: "Last summer I suffered from pain in my back, and trouble with my bladder. I had to be up frequently at night, and my rest was not enjoyed. I heard of Lightning Kidney and Liver Remedy, and purchased one bottle, and after taking same according to directions, I feel well. In fact, I can say it is the best medicine that ever went down a human throat for kidney and liver diseases.—For sale by all dealers.

He Feared She Could.
Little Brother—How much do you weigh, Mr. Dangle.
Dangle—About 150 pounds, my man.
Why do you ask?
"I heard sister tell me that she was going to throw you over her shoulders if Mr. Fangle proposed, but I don't believe she can do it, do you?"

Mr. Jas. Osborn is very low with dyspepsia, his recovery is doubtful.

J. T. Jarboe, of Marion county, is visiting friends and relatives in this neighborhood.

Mr. Wm. Vessels, of near Rhodolia, had a sale last Saturday, he is going to Missouri.

Mr. J. F. Jarboe, purchased of R. E. Mattingly the old Mattingly farm lying one-half mile south of this place for $600.

Mr. McQuinn, of Glasgow, Ky., the late guest of Mr. F. G. Parr and Doctor Frymire returned home last Wednesday.

Mr. Joseph Burch, of Bowling Green, Ky., and Miss Maggie Stiff of this place were married at St. Theresa church Thursday the 8, Rev P. Reaux officiating. The bridal party took the City of Owensboro for Louisville where they will spend a few days and then return to their future home in Bowling Green. May joy, peace and prosperity follow them to their new home.

Politics is very quiet in this part, with the exception of our choice for a candidate for Congress. We are not Montgomery men in this section. We want a shrewd, able, energetic man, a man of experience and ability, a man whose name is as untarnished as the principles of Democracy, a man who knows not defeat but carries conviction before him. As to the man that possesses these qualities, we the voters of this end of the county would introduce the name of the Hon. Jack Gross, the political core of Breckenridge county, the pride of the old Commonwealth of Kentucky and whose superior is hardly found even in the Federal Government.

It is an established fact that DeWitt's Little Early Risers have an enormous sale, and why? Simply because they are pleasant in taking and happy in results. A pill for the multitude.—Sold by Snort & Haynes.
